

The textbook that corresponds to this course is The Art of Data Science written by myself and Elizabeth Matsui. This book covers all of the topics covered in this course and provides some additional examples. It is available in convenient e-book format and can be used on major e-book readers (there are versions for Kindle, iBooks, and there is a PDF version). This book will serve as a useful reference while you take the course and is a way for you to take the notes with you after the course is completed.

Roger Peng